

Contents

Editorial: A spectre is haunting Innsbruck. Documentation of the first International Conference on Critical and Radical Humanist Work and Organizational Psychology	4
Severin Hornung, Christine Unterrainer, Thomas Höge
Preface: Conference vision and call for participation	6
Wolfgang G. Weber, Thomas Höge, Severin Hornung, Christine Unterrainer
Conference report: Highlights and impressions from the first International Conference on Critical and Radical Humanist Work and Organizational Psychology	13
Severin Hornung, Christine Unterrainer, Thomas Höge
Some lineages and resources of Critical and Radical Humanist Work and Organizational Psychology	21
Wolfgang G. Weber
Productivity in face of a „pathology of normalcy“. Erich Fromm’s contribution to Critical Psychology	31
Rainer Funk
Subjectivity and work: Critical-theoretical reflections	39
Thomas Teo
Meaningfulness and organising for sustainable futures	45
Ruth Yeoman
Hard lessons: (Critical) Management Studies and (Critical) Work and Organizational Psychology	54
Martin Parker
Bricolage of positions and perspectives from the panel discussion on prospects and contestations of Critical and Radical Humanist Work and Organizational Psychology: Are we ready to take over?	60
Laura F. Röhlmann, Johanna L. Degen, Edina Dóci, P. Matthijs Bal, Severin Hornung, Gazi Islam, Thomas Kühn, Zoe Sanderson
Addendum: Dedication to Wolfgang G. Weber and acknowledgement of his academic work on the occasion of his retirement	71
Christine Unterrainer, Thomas Höge, Severin Hornung	